

NORSACA
quality of life for people with autism

Media Release 13th June - For Immediate Release

Marathon Walk for Charity

Langwith resident Colin Draper raised £774 for autism charity NORSACA by walking over 25 miles last month. The walk took 8 hours and 20 minutes and went from Colin's home to all five sites of Sutherland House School.

Sutherland House School is a school for pupils with autism based on five sites in and around Nottingham. The school is run by NORSACA, a charity that works with adults and children with autism.

Colin said: "I wanted to raise funds for NORSACA as my son, David, is a pupil at Sutherland House School. The school has greatly helped David to develop his personal skills & social skills as much as is possible. It was wonderful to arrive at the last site and find the pupils waiting outside for me with a banner they had made specially."
